MODERN CIVILIZATION IS CONTAINED IN BOTTLES

A New Aphorism From an Old Quotation—Frederic J. Haskin Tells of the Many Uses to Which Glass Is Put and How It Is Made—Twenty Bottles for Every Person Every Year.

IT HAS been said that civilization is founded upon glass, and it ought to be suggested to the makers of aphorisms that modern civilization is contained in bottles. Bottles made of glass are still in use in many parts of the world, bottles of earthenware are used still more widely, but bottles of glass measure the content of our civilization. Including jars and other wide-mouthed glass containers, the total output of the glass bottle factories of the United States amounts to a billion and a half bottles a year—nearly 20 bottles for each man, woman and child in the republic. Bottles are used in scores of ways. They contain man's fruit preserves and jellies, his mineral waters and his beers, his whiskies and his wines, his medicines and his liniments. They are indispensable.

The earliest form of the use of glass was in bottle-making. The monuments of Egypt preserve pictures of glass-blowers at work in the days before the pyramids were built. And it is a remarkable fact that there was little progress in the art of bottle-making from that early day until a few years ago when an ingenious machine revolutionized the business.

It is a far cry from the ancient glass blower to the modern bottle-making machine that turns out perfected bottles at the rate of ten a minute. The finished bottle made by machine is better than the one blown by hand. The bottle users prefer it to be more uniform in its thickness, stronger, and more exact in its contents.

WOMEN'S WOES.

El Paso Women Are Finding Relief at

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up" must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs, or headaches, dizzy spells, bearing-down pains; they must stoop over, when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with racking pains and many aches from kidney ills. Kidneys cause more suffering than any other organ of the body. Keep the kidneys well and health is easily maintained. Read of a remedy for kidneys only that helps and cures the kidneys and is endorsed by people you know.

Mrs. E. L. Nichols 1220 Texas street, El Paso, Tex., says: "The results I received from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills were so satisfactory that it is impossible for me to praise them too highly. For a long time I was troubled by backache and was hardly ever free from a difficulty with the kidney secretions. Often sharp twinges darted through my kidneys and I was also distressed by headaches. Learning of Doan's Kidney Pills, I decided to try them and procured a box at Kelly & Pollard's drug store. They proved to be just what I required and in a short time completely cured me."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

all will be well. But the person who gets hold of it in the dark or when half asleep will be advised by the telegraph since bottles were first made down to date, can find thousands of interesting specimens of the glass-blowers' art. It is a fact that has taken a rather deep hold in Europe, and is being transferred to America. There are some notable collections of bottles in the museums of this country.

Attiled to bottle making is the making of lamp chimneys. The world owes the discovery of the lamp chimney to the restlessness of a little child. A poor Swiss mechanic by the name of Argand invented a new kerosene lamp. He had the wick arranged so that the oxygen would reach the flame from the inside as well as from the outside. It burned well, and was giving satisfaction. But a child was playing with it one day and placed a wide-mouthed bottle whose bottom had been broken out, over it, when presto, the light was multiplied many times. From that moment the lamp chimney was a reality. Electric light bulbs are also closely akin to bottles, but their manufacture is an entirely separate industry.
